

I can't believe you would even consider relaxing the restrictions on cross ownership and percentage of the national audience that a single cable company can reach. Media owner concentration can have no benefits in terms of serving the public well, offering diversity, etc. The only beneficiaries will be the corporate media and whomever they contribute. I view this as resulting from legalized bribery and a definite step in the destruction of access to information upon which any democracy rests.

So please do not relax existing rules and thereby help preserve our democracy.

Respectfully,

Bruce Robinson
